

Why Are You Wearing That Stupid Man-suit?

...is a Gothenburg-based trio who plays heavy rock music "With a twist".
They're currently in midst of independently releasing their first 7" single,
"Fight The People!", on their own label "Shameless".

Recorded in Bohus Sound by Stefan Karlsson and mastered by Dragan Tanaskovic
(who's mastered In Flames, Hardcore Superstar and others)

Over the years, the band has become a tight-knit unit
by playing the local club scene in Gothenburg (both over- and underground),
but there have also been various gigs in other cities,
including playing to an audience of roughly 200 people
on the "Barroselas Metalfest" in Portugal.

With their new single in hand,
the band has set out to tour various parts of Sweden and Scandinavia
this summer to spread their special brand of rock music
which has been described as "Erotic death funk".
So, get ready to get sock-rocked this summer and remember...

Fight The People!
